

Public Meeting Announcement for the Buffalo Flats Stream Restoration Project

The Union Soil and Water Conservation District (District) invites the public to an evening meeting on January 30, 2020 in Union, Oregon regarding the Buffalo Flats Stream Restoration Project, located upstream of Union. The District is leading this effort to improve fish and wildlife habitat conditions within Catherine Creek and Little Creek, and also seeks opportunities to address local flooding concerns and provide benefits for local agricultural operators. The District recognizes the complexity of the natural river system and the potential for impacts on the local community. The District and its partners will provide the underlying need for the project, listen to areas of concern, and discuss opportunities to provide input and feedback that will inform project development.

Where: Miller Gym, Union Elementary School, 166 West Dearborn St., Union Or. 97883

When: January 30, 2020 from 6:00 to 8:00 pm

Why: Provide information to the community of Union regarding this restoration effort, listen to areas of concern, and discuss opportunities to provide input and feedback that will inform project development..

For more information on this meeting, please contact Aaron Bliesner at (541) 963-1313 or at abliesner@unionswcd.org.